

Featured project

Insulin is a hormone produced by body (pancreas, a gland located behind your stomach) which keeps the blood sugar level under control. It is given as an injection in type 1 and is sometimes needed in the more common form of type 2 diabetes also. Giving diabetes patients the chance to avoid the pain of needles has been the goal of our chemkovil.

